

Research Specification: 2017 Survey of Small Business Legal Needs

Purpose

The Legal Services Board (LSB) is seeking to update its 2015 and 2013 surveys of the legal needs of small businesses (those with up to 49 employees). The purpose of this research is to undertake a large scale representative survey that enables robust comparisons with previous waves to assess change over time. This research tender is for the fieldwork only, we will carry out survey design, analysis and report writing in-house.

Background

The LSB has been set up to reform and modernise the legal services market in the interests of consumers, enhancing quality, ensuring value for money and improving access to justice across England and Wales. The LSB seeks to achieve this through pursuing its regulatory objectives¹ and providing regulatory oversight for the nine approved frontline regulators².

The LSB undertakes periodic assessments to evaluate whether these regulatory objectives are being delivered, and more specifically whether the outcomes associated with these regulatory objectives can be seen. Understanding whether access to particular services from legal providers changes, and if so how it changes, is an important part of the LSB's overall evaluation strategy.

Small businesses are a vital part of the UK economy. They may require access to information and advice about legal issues to start, grow and deal with a wide variety of issues they may encounter. Such issues might involve trading issues, employment disputes or intellectual property, for example. Our previous legal needs surveys with this audience have analysed their experiences in today's economy, showing the origin of legal problems that they face and their strategies for dealing with these problems, including where they seek advice and their experiences of doing so. This research has identified substantial unmet need and perceptions that legal services are not cost-effective, whilst also underlining the significant financial and other negative impacts of legal disputes.

The 2015 wave was the largest ever survey of small firms' interactions with the legal sector – an online survey of 10,528 respondents, including 1,463 also interviewed in the 2013 wave. The LSB draws on this evidence to inform policy development in a range of areas, while the research has also been used by external organisations, most recently by the Competition and Markets Authority in its legal services market study. The CMA has recommended measures to increase market transparency on the price, quality and protections offered by providers to help empower individuals and small business consumers to increase competition. We have added new questions to the survey to help us understand how small firms use information to identify and compare providers.

Surveys of legal needs track how an individual or business responds when faced with a problem that can be resolved using legal processes. Figure 1 below shows the breakdown of what small businesses do when faced with a legal problem using the benchmarking survey of small business legal needs in England and Wales.³ This covers small businesses who had a legal need over the preceding twelve months⁴ in one or more of nine different types of legal problem. The graphic provides a visual picture of the choices that small firms make and the journeys we seek to trace through the survey. While a useful overview, we suggest this should be read alongside the most recent full report⁵ in order to obtain a full understanding of the scope, focus and research approach used in the survey.

Aims and Objectives

The main aim of this research is to re-run the 2015 survey of small businesses – those with up to 49 employees. This project will help the LSB to monitor changes in the market that have arisen as a result of changes to regulation. Therefore a key part of the project for the LSB will be ensuring sufficient consistency with the 2015 and 2013 waves of the survey to enable reliable and accurate assessments of change – or lack of change - over time, and the potential reasons for this.

The survey should produce a dataset representative of the English and Welsh population of these businesses, across all business sectors, with a target sample size of 10,000 respondents. This research tender is for survey testing and fieldwork only, we will carry out survey design, analysis and report writing in-house. A copy of the draft survey is included in Annex B with changes to the 2015 survey highlighted.

We have made some changes to the previous survey, by removing and adding questions and amending others, but overall we anticipate the survey length is about the same as last time – about fifteen minutes. This will need to be tested prior to the main stage field work.

Issues and scope

The main issue to consider is how to ensure comparability with 2015 survey so as to identify statistically significant changes, and the underlying drivers of change.

We expect the survey to be carried out online. The successful company will use the survey developed in the previous research with some changes. Working with LSB, the researchers will need to ensure that the survey will achieve robust results with a sufficient sample for statistical analysis – particularly by key variables such as industry section, region, number of employees, age of business etc.

The output of this research will be a dataset (with no report) in MS Excel and SPSS format that can be used by the LSB. The successful company would be expected to work with the LSB research team to deal with any problems with the dataset and ensure it is fit for purpose and accurately labelled.

Tender Evaluation Criteria

All projects commissioned by the LSB are subject to our standard terms of contract, available on our website. Tenders will be evaluated on best value for money and will be assessed on the basis of:

a) Overall cost. Please include costed options for different sample sizes and criteria for inclusion in the survey. As with previous surveys we are looking to achieve sufficient sample sizes for each of the three key groups of small business (1 employees, 2-9 employees, 10-49 employees).

b) The extent to which tenders are clearly written, concise, and meet the specified objectives, present a sound methodology, ensure a robust approach to including respondents, identifying any potential problems, and proposing suitable solutions;

c) Address outputs and ensure these are in line with requirements and the required timing of the project. A detailed timeline should be provided.

d) Proposed team composition, expertise and management and the organisation's diversity policy

Deliverables

Output

The output for this research should be Excel and SPSS data files of the anonymised results of the survey, suitable for analysis. The LSB will retain ownership of the data which will be delivered in a publishable format.

Project plan

Tenders should include a project plan and time schedule for the work that identifies the main tasks and key milestones that will be used to monitor progress. The plan should be accompanied by a resource profile, giving a breakdown of the resources in person days allocated to each task. We would also expect tenders to include a clear analysis of the potential risks and how they propose to mitigate them during the project

Duration

The research should commence in late February 2017. Tenders should set out dates for completing key milestones such as survey testing, coding, fieldwork, and data cleansing. The final dataset must be submitted by late April 2017.

For budgetary reasons we expect to spread the fieldwork period over two financial years, perhaps half and half although this will depend on the contract value.

Legal Services Board Contact Details

Tenders with any queries relating to the research specification should contact: Robert Cross on 020 7271 0091/ Meera Amin on 020 7271 0044/meera.amin@legalservicesboard.org.uk

Tenders must be submitted by 5pm on 23 February to Chidinma Alufuo
(chidinma.alufuo@legalservicesboard.org.uk)

Please sign and return non-collusive tendering agreement with your tender (see Annex A).

Interviews with shortlisted companies will take place in the week commencing 27 February 2017.
